BRANDON MASLAN BIO

Brandon Maslan is an executive coach, paid speaker and corporate trainer. He has worked with hundreds of top executives in the advancement of their careers, getting on to Boards and overall expansion of their professional brands. In addition, he has done trainings across the United States and for global audiences on a variety of topics including Professional Branding, Honing Your Elevator Pitch, Building Professional Connections and Mentorship and Sponsorship. He's helped people discover their brands and facilitated trainings for large teams to find their collective vision.

In addition, for the past 2 ½ years he has worked as a Member Advisor at Advancing Women Executives (AWE – www.inAWE.com) and a major supporter of the advancement of women in business. AWE is the fastest growing business service for VP-level and above corporate executive women with the mission to increase the number of women in senior management and on boards to improve the overall global economy. Through improving awareness, instilling action and creating change, AWE is actively engaging with executive women and their companies to improve business by promoting women.

Brandon was a trial attorney for many years prior to moving to Los Angeles where he became a legal and corporate recruiter. Realizing that his true passions lay in allowing others to fulfill their visions, goals and dreams, he graduated from the Co-active Training Institute and began a career as an Executive Coach. Brandon is a sought after speaker, executive coach, and leader. His expertise is around brand management, personal empowerment, public speaking, corporate culture building and career guidance.

The work Brandon does now is the culmination of his career. He has always been a passionate advocate for others, utilizing his voice to create positive change.

Brandon lives with his wife in beautiful Oakland, California and expecting their first child in February. Which he is excited to announce will be a daughter. Yet another reason he is a proud Member of the world's smallest fraternity, Male Feminists. He earned his Law Degree from University of Maryland School of Law.

Brandon sees the best in others, which empowers them to see the best in themselves and those around them.
